STEAMER AND SCOW COLLIDE

Bow of the Hampton Roads Buried in Forward End of Scow.

Norfolk, Va., January 10.—While en route to Norfolk with six passengers from points on the Western Shore of Virginia, about 6 o'clock yesterday evening, the steamer Hampton Roads, of the Old Dominion Steamship Company, collided with a mud scow of the Coastwise Dredging Company off Sewall's Point.

The force of the collision was so great that the bow of the steamer was buried in the forward end of the scow and could not be extracted. The steamer, after transferring her passengers to the steamer Mobjack, which was used in her wake, came on to Norfolk, with the scow stuck to her bow.

The Hampton Roads had several of her plates dented, but no one was hurt.

COULD NOT PUT HANDS IN WATER

Because of Severe and Stubborn Eczema. Used Everything for Nearly Eight Years. Could not Sleep. After Few Applications of Cuticura Ointment, Burning and Itching Lessened. Could Sleep Well.

Now Has Hands as Clear as Anyone.

"Some nine years ago I noticed small pimples breaking out on the back of my hands. They became very irritating, and gradually became worse, so that I could not sleep at night. I consulted a physician who treated me a long time, but it got worse, and I could not put my hands in water. I was treated at the hospital, and thought I was cured. I did so, and I found after a few applications and by bandaging my hands well up that the burning sensations were disappearing. I could sleep well, and did not have any itching during the night. I began after a while to use Cuticura Soap. I washed for them, and I think by using the Soap and Ointment I was much benefited. I stuck to the Cuticura treatment, and thought I could use other remedies for over seven years with no result, and after only having a few applications and finding ease from Cuticura Ointment, I thought it deserved a fair trial with a severe and stubborn case. I used the Ointment and Soap for nearly six months, and I am glad to say that I have hands as clear as anyone."

"If I may wish that you publish this letter to all the world, and if anyone doubts it, let them write me and I will give them the name of my physician, also the hospital I was treated at." (Signed) Miss Mary A. Bentley, 90 University St., Montreal, Que., Sept. 14, '10. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. No other treatment for the skin and scalp so pure, economical and speedily effective. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole props., Boston, for free book on treatment of skin and scalp troubles.

NO INCREASE, NO NEW RAILROADS

Argued That on Present Basis Capital Cannot Be Secured.

Washington, D. C., January 10.—Impressive weight was placed by F. I. Gowen, counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad, upon the necessity, in the view of the railroads, for an increase of freight rates, in his argument yesterday before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"If the requirements of the shippers and the traveling public are to be met," he declared, "and the roads are to make additional improvements to their equipment and other facilities, then we must have the assistance of an increase of rates."

"Then, do you mean," inquired Commissioner Lane, "that, unless this proposed increase of rates is granted, there will be no more railroads constructed?"

"Perhaps not quite that," responded Mr. Gowen, "but I do believe that the railroad business of the country must be done by the lines at present in existence. The charges for new construction are so great as to deter capital from entering upon the building of new lines in competition with lines already in existence. My contention is that it should not be the policy of this commission to take a position which will make needed improvements and necessary additions to their present facilities unprofitable."

Prior to Mr. Gowen's argument, Frank Lyon, one of the attorneys for the commission, had presented an elaborate statement of the financial operations of various Eastern railroads, made up from the monthly and annual reports of the companies to the commission. His figures indicated that many of the supplies and materials now used by the roads cost less than they cost at an average period for the last seven years, although some of them cost more. Mr. Lyon did not argue directly against the proposed advance, his idea being to put the commission into possession of official facts and figures that might enable it to reach a definite conclusion on the question before it.

GOOD ROADS FOR CUMBERLAND.

Association Indorses Bill Providing for $300,000 Bond Issue.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Fayetteville, N. C., January 10.—About 100 representative citizens of Cumberland county met in the county courthouse in this city to-day for the purpose of hearing an address on the subject of "Good Roads," by Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State Geologist and secretary of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, and to reconsider the Cumberland County Good Roads Association. Dr. Pratt recommended a bond issue by the county as the best method of financing road building, which mode had been adopted in a proposed good roads bill for Cumberland county, submitted to the meeting by Mayor James D. McNeill and H. McD. Robinson, of the committee appointed by the mass-meeting of December 17. This bill was approved by the meeting, and will be passed by the Legislature.

After Dr. Pratt's address, the Cumberland County Good Roads Association was reorganized, with T. G. McAllister, president; Captain J. H. Currie, vice-president; and W. M. Walker, secretary and treasurer. A board of directors was also elected. The bill adopted by the association provides for a bond issue of $300,000, and provides the machinery for the expenditure of the proceeds of the bonds, including the establishment of county highway commission and the building of roads under expert supervision.

Indorsed by Labor Union.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., January 10.—Evidence that the Norfolk labor unions expect to be heard from in the approaching spring elections is the nomination and indorsement by the Central Labor Union of W. E. Doherty for the Legislature. Mr. Doherty is the newly elected president of the larger labor body, and is popular among the working classes of the city. That he will make a strong race for the lower house is generally predicted.

Harris had induced Newell to knock Roberson down with a rock, so the evidence goes.

VIRGINIA FARMERS MEET IN ROANOKE
Institute Addressed by Stuart and Eggleston—Fine Display of Apples.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Roanoke, Va., January 10.—Roanoke was crowded to-day with farmers from every section of Virginia, and all trains arriving here throughout the day brought more farmers, fruit growers and stock raisers, all coming to attend the farmers' week, which commenced this morning with the meeting of the Farmers' Institute.

To-night the Farmers' Institute was addressed by J. D. Eggleston, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Hon. Henry C. Stuart, who delivered an address on "Best Production."

The Virginia Canners' Association and the Virginia Horticultural Society held meetings this afternoon. Nowhere in Virginia and perhaps in this country, possibly, with the exception of California, has there been a more elaborate or handsomer display of apples than is being exhibited here by the Virginia Horticultural Society. The exhibit is one of the great features of the farmers' week, and in itself makes an attraction worth coming a long way to see.

The lecture given this afternoon to the wives and other women at the Farmers' Convention by Mrs. Mary E. Dillard, of Lynchburg, on "Home Economics" was one of the most striking features of the day. Mrs. Dillard said that girls should be taught the art of home-making and house-keeping in a scientific way. Technical schools had been established for boys, and a similar plan should be followed for girls. With an electric stove she quickly and deftly prepared several delicious dishes, talking the while, and explaining why she did certain things with the ingredients.

Miss Agnew discussed tomato raising and the plan of organizing tomato clubs.
